Introduction

The teams march out on the halfway line. Two players enter the center circle where the ball waits on the center spot. The pass! The kick! They're off and running!

Welcome to World League Soccer! You're about to enjoy the most realistic soccer simulation game ever. To play and win means you need skills and tactics. Take time to practice ball control, passing, dribbling, penalty kicking, corner kicking, and shooting goals. And be prepared to battle tricky wind conditions and a variety of playing surfaces.

World League Soccer is your ticket to world soccer excitement! And the chance of a lifetime to play world class teams in six divisions. Now, you can play your dream team. The game includes over 350 players with unique skills, abilities, and personalities. Get to know the teams, then you pick the players! You can choose the first string team or their substitutes from a roster of 15 players per team. But you can't pick the referees! There are 24 refs; some are easygoing, others strict. And they have good days and bad! So play fair and watch out for those yellow and red cards!

Listen to the fans in the stands roar as you score the winning goal! Have tons of fun playing against up to 23 friends, as you strive to win the ultimate prize—the World Match.

Playing the Game

World League Soccer simulates the rules of a real soccer game with a standard field, 24 world class teams, 24 referees, and penalties.

The Field

The World League Soccer field is a rectangle that is about the length and width of a regulation field (130 by 100 yards). The boundaries, halfway line, center circle, goal area, penalty area, corners, sidelines, and touch lines are all clearly marked onscreen. Each kickoff begins on the center circle. If a player kicks the ball over either sideline, the other team gets a throw-in (this is automatic). If a player kicks the ball over his own touch line (end), the other team gets a corner kick. If a player kicks the ball over the opponents' end line, the opponents' goalie gets a goal kick. A goal box is centered at each end of the field. The goal and penalty areas are marked as two increasingly larger rectangles around the goal box. Within these areas, the goalie may pick up and pass or kick the ball (see Game Controls). If the defense commits a foul in its own penalty area, the offense gets a penalty kick. A goal is scored when the ball is kicked over the goal line, between the goal posts.

Note: Much as with football, you'll find that if you can get the soccer ball to "cross the plane" of the goal line, you'll be credited with a goal. This means that just a portion of the ball needs to cross the line in order for you to score. Of course, you'll need to get past the goalie to achieve this, so you're better off trying to kick it completely past him from a distance.

Also, there is an audible sound when you score a goal - the sound of the ball hitting the netting. Be sure to keep your kicks low to the ground - if not, what may look like a good shot will sail over the top of the goal, or bounce off the goal post and be deflected over. If this occurs, you will hear a "boing" sound, indicating you have hit the goal post and missed the goal. You will also know if your shot is too high by watching the scaling of the ball; if the ball gets too large as it heads for the goal (indicating it's going higher), there's a good chance it will clear the goal altogether.

The Field of Play

The Players

A soccer match is always played by two teams with not more than eleven players, one of whom is the goalkeeper (or goalie). In World League Soccer you can set up the remaining ten players in these strategic patterns:

4-2-4 Four defenders, two midfielders, and four forwards.

4-3-3 Four defenders, three midfielders, and three forwards.

4-4-2 Four defenders, four midfielders, and two forwards.

5-3-2 Five defenders, three midfielders, and two forwards.

The first two formations emphasize offense and the last two defense. As you get a feel for the different teams and players you may want to change strategies and make substitutions. You may select your strategic pattern and make up to two player substitutions, but only before the game (see Play Features, The League).

The Kickoff

Kickoffs occur at the beginning of the game, after each goal, and after half time. During the kickoff, the center forward must pass the ball to his right or left forward, before kicking the ball a second time. Players on each team then compete for control of the ball, passing to their own team, blocking the other team, and trying to intercept the ball in their drive toward the goal. Soccer is not easy to master, so be sure to practice dribbling, passing, and shooting (see Game Controls and Play Features, Practice).

The Clock

During play, the clock does not stop until it runs out. Any injury time from penalties is added to the game at the end of the match. This additional playing time discourages the winning team from fouling the losing team in an effort to run down the clock. During the playoffs, a draw (tie) at the end of the game results in sudden death overtime—the first side to score wins. In these circumstances, controlling your goalie is important (see Game Controls). You can choose from four game times in World League Soccer: 6, 10, 20, or 40 minutes (see Options, Duration).

The Referees and Penalties

World League Soccer has 24 referees. You'll never see the ref or know who he is—it's just luck of the draw. Some are strict, some play favorites, and others let things slide. The ref's job is to watch out for fouls and to throw yellow and red cards. A foul is doing any of the following to an opponent:

Kicking or attempting to kick.

Tripping.

Charging in a violent or dangerous manner.

Charging from behind (unless he is obstructing).

Holding.

Pushing.

Handling the ball (unless it's the goalie in his own penalty area).

If a player commits a foul, the other team gets a penalty kick (sometimes called a free kick) from the spot where the foul occurred. If a defending player commits a foul within his team's penalty area, the offense gets a penalty kick from that half of the goal area where the foul occurred (see Game Controls). If a player commits a serious foul, he will get a yellow card warning him that a red card may be next. If a player gets a red card, he may be out for the rest of the game, or he may be out for the half (this is subject to the whims of the referee for that particular game). As there are no substitutions, that team is down one player for as long as that player remains out - possibly for the rest of the game! This is a very good reason to play fair and be a good sport!

Teams in the World League

Each team in World League Soccer has its own strengths and weaknesses that can be exploited by crafty players.

Italy	Great passing and ball control make them tough to beat.
Austria	Great speed and balance overall and a good scoring offense.
Czechoslovakia	Well balanced and highly skilled team with keen passers. If they can get the ball to the midfielder, they'll score a hit.
United States	Not the most skilled team overall, but a strong defense and a great forward keep the U.S. in contention.
Brazil	Powerful team with outstanding passing game.
Sweden	Have a stable defense, but lack power, so they rely on passing.
Scotland	Reputation is they play with outdated strategies. A more liberal approach would help their play.
Costa Rica	Tremendous speed; however, they rarely score. A more rounded approach would help here.
Belgium	Patient team, with no one player that stands out. Short passes are effective for them, though.
Spain	Play as passionately as a bullfighter. They do not have great teamwork, but passing should be stressed more.

Uruguay	Excellent balance and fantastic pass work.
France	Good ball control and a modern playing style. They do not play well in wet conditions, but they have good balance.
Argentina	Never miss an opportunity to shoot. They are a fast moving, aggressive and powerful team that handily exploits a team's weaknesses.
Russia	Stress teamwork and have no players who stand out.
Rumania	Poor offense and lack power overall.
Cameroon	With a tight defense, this is a team to watch out for.
Germany	Phenomenal passing and tremendous speed.
Yugoslavia	Play with speed and power. Their sharp passes and great ball control let them split defenses and score.
Colombia	Phenomenal passing and tremendous speed.
Japan	The newest team to the World League , so they don't have much power or speed. To overcome these shortfalls, master passing skills.
England	Not extravagant, but their mental strength, along with great speed, are their strong points.
Holland	Great combination of speed, agility and pass work. They're known for racking up goals.
Ireland	Solid defense, great balance, and an awesome midfielder makes them quite powerful.
Egypt	A quick forward, but little power. They win when they pass effectively.
